LONG VERSION – 244 Words

Register now for the 2019 Presbyterians for Earth Care Conference “Peace for the Earth: From the Bible to the Front Lines,” August 6-9, 2019, Stony Point, NY

Our rapidly changing global climate presents each and every person on the earth with both a challenge and an opportunity like none other in history. We need all hands on deck. We. Need. You. Now! Plan now to participate in the 2019 national conference of Presbyterians for Earth Care. Our keynote speaker, Rev. Dr. William Brown will explore the biblical call to peace that calls us to solidarity with all creation, especially the people and places most vulnerable to our changing climate. In a plenary session, Dr. Susan Clayton will speak about caring for the psychological wellbeing of individuals and communities as we face the realities of climate change. Rev. Dr. Jill Crainshaw and Minister Warren B. Cooper will feed our souls for the work of creation care through grounded worship and music.

A diversity of workshop leaders including national staff, ecumenical representatives, environmental non-profits, and interfaith coalitions will share current resources and nurture faithful response to climate change. Highlights include GreenFaith's workshop on Multifaith Organizing for the Green New Deal, a panel focused on the ins and outs of building local earth care teams, and several opportunities to explore new ecologically focused liturgical and study resources for congregational use.

Don't miss this invitation to creation care community. A full conference program is available at presbyearthcare.org/events. Registration is open at stonypointcenter.org/presbyearthcare

Please register early. The Early Bird discount lasts only until July 9. Young adults (18-30) and individuals with low income register for $100.
